1.3 Black Future Lawyers University of Toronto Scarborough – Student initiative is a student-led initiative for full-time Black undergraduate students at the University of Toronto Scarborough campus (“UTSC”). BFL UTSC’s intention is to organize and advocate for the betterment of Black students who aspire to attend law school.

BFL UTSC is an undergraduate student chapter of BFL Central, a program run by the University of Toronto Faculty of Law and Black Law Students’ Association (“BLSA UofT”). We acknowledge that, as Black students, our academic experience is closely linked to the many systemic barriers that students face in academia, and will attempt to address these issues, while also providing a space for critical thought.

BFL UTSC forbids discrimination against race, gender, class, sexual orientation, age, ability, and all other socio-political identities. The objective of BFL UTSC is to promote and provide black students at UTSC with an opportunity to be a part of a community of people who not only aspire to become lawyers, but also aspire to give back and spread awareness of this initiative.

The main purpose of BFL UTSC is to provide support and assistance for black pre-law students by working with BFL Central, the Faculty of Law and other associated departments. BFL UTSC recognizes that working with other student organizations is vital for reaching this goal. The long-term goals of BFL UTSC are to build efforts to increase awareness of academic student groups such as BFL UTSC that cater to the inclusion and betterment of Black undergraduate students by creating events and programs that reflect these ideals.

BFL UTSC is subject to the rules of the University of Toronto that govern student organizations as well as additional guidelines or constitutions maintained by any collegiate, faculty, department, or student body coalition it may be affiliated with.
