Constitution of “A Moment of Science, Please!”

1. Name

The official name of this recognized student group is “A Moment of Science, Please”

The acronym or abbreviation of this group is: AMOSP

2. Purpose and Objectives

The purpose, objectives, mission and/or mandate of organization is outlined here:
Scientific research is an incredible field that looks to educate and innovate for the future. Yet, research projects and published papers are often hard to read and understand as a student. While the research may be of interest to an individual, not yet understood scientific terminology, processes, and the length of research papers alone can be intimidating.

A Moment of Science, please aims to change this perspective, and allow students to understand current and ongoing research projects directly from UofT’s own researchers through a podcast medium. Researchers can share their projects in an informal manner to help students understand the underlying scientific concepts without the jargon and lengthiness of research papers.

We aim to garner more student interest in the modern research field, and use these podcasts to educate from the source. Through an increased understanding of current research projects, we believe more students will look to pursue research opportunities and will get to learn more about careers in research as well.
